

A Wife in Trouble.

"Pray tell me, my dear, what is the cause of those tears?"
"O such a disgrace!"
"What is it my dear, don't keep me in suspense?"
"O, I have opened one of your letters, supposing it to be addressed to myself. Certainly it looked more like Mrs. than Mr."

"Is that all? What harm can there be in a wife opening her husband's letters?"
"No harm in the thing itself, but the contents. Such a disgrace!"
"Who has dared to write me a letter unfit to be read by my wife?"
"Oh, no, it is couched in the most chaste and beautiful language. But the contents!"

Here the wife buried her face in her handkerchief and commenced sobbing aloud; while her husband eagerly caught up the letter and commenced reading the epistle that had nearly broken his wife's heart. It was a bill from the printer for two years' subscription to the town paper.

He "settled up," and pays for his paper in advance hereafter.

PROTRACTED MEETING.—A protracted meeting commenced at Blanket Grove School House, in Adair county, on the last Sabbath in July, and closed last Sunday. Reverends J. M. Johnson and John Room of the United Baptist church, conducted the meeting. Forty-six persons were added to the church, thirty-nine of whom were admitted on experience and baptism. The meeting was reopened on Thursday, and is still progressing.

There was a lively free fight at Perryville, in this State, a few days ago. An ex-soldier named Barbier had been guilty of a breach of the peace, and was fined fifteen dollars and costs. He said he wouldn't pay it, and his friends said they would not see a returned soldier "jugged" merely because he was too poor to pay his fine. The constable called in the whole town as a posse. The posse came in but it was found that they divided off after coming in. The fight became indiscriminate, a regular knock down and drag out. Merchants, blacksmiths, printer's devils, lawyers, doctors, a member of Congress, clerks of stores and of the courts, soldiers and citizens, French, Germans and Irish, negroes and white folks, men and women, all pitched in. There were no cutting or fire arms. It was a fair fight, but not according to the tactics of Napoleon, Wellington or Grant. After some time, the insurrection was quelled, and Barbier raised the "spondulics" to pay out.

The mother of Harold, the conspirator, if accounts are true, is possessed of more than Spartan firmness. She is a strong Unionist, and had many times protested against her son's secession tendencies. After his part in the assassination plot became known, she stifled the natural feelings of a mother, and resolutely said she had tried in vain to teach him better counsel, and now he must take the results of his wicked conduct, without expecting sympathy from her. Although his sister visited him during his imprisonment, and did all in her power to secure a pardon for him, his mother would do neither, but maintained her resolution to the last.

FUTURE HOUSEKEEPING.—We sometimes catch ourselves wondering how many of the young ladies whom we meet with are to perform the part of housekeepers when the young men who now eye them so admiringly have persuaded them to become their wives. We listen to those young ladies of whom we speak, and hear them not only acknowledging, but boasting of their ignorance of all household duties, as if nothing would so lower them in the estimation of their friends as the confession of an inability to make bread and pies, or cook a piece of meat, or a disposition to engage in any useful employment. Speaking from our own youthful recollections we are free to say that taper fingers and lily hands are very pretty to look at with a young man's eyes, and sometimes we have known the artless innocence of practical knowledge displayed by a young miss to appear rather interesting than otherwise. But we have lived long enough to learn that life is full of rugged experiences, and that the most loving, romantic and delicate people must live on cooked or otherwise prepared food, and the house kept clean and tidy by industrious hands. And for all the practical purposes of married life it is generally found that for a husband to sit and gaze at a wife's taper fingers and lily hands, or for a wife to sit and be looked at and admired, does not make the pot boil, or put the smallest piece of food therein.

Mr. Richardson concludes his last letter to the Tribune, from the silver region of Nevada as follows: "Nevada has turned out about $60,000,000 in bullion, and is now producing nearly $20,000,000 annually. Bishop Simpson is convinced that our silver resources are sufficient to pay off a National debt of twenty billions; present cash returned soldier of the Union, with a silver musket, and then plate all our war vessels with silver thicker than they are now sheathed with iron. It is certain that our ores are practically inexhaustible and that the silver mining of the United States is in its early infancy."

A Confederate soldier who had fought fairly and squarely throughout the late war, when he was startled with the intelligence of the surrender of the three armies of Lee, Johnston and Taylor, woke up to a "realizing sense" of the stupendousness of the failure. His surprise broke forth in the exclamation, "d—n the thing, it didn't even flicker, but went right out."

SALT SPRINGS IN SALINE COUNTY.—The St. Louis Dispatch says that Saline county, in Central Missouri, was properly named, for it has, almost in its centre, some of the finest salt springs in the United States. We are glad to learn that a number of St. Louis capitalists have purchased these springs, and will establish there a large manufactory of salt. The locality also shows indications of petroleum, and as it is a portion of the great coal field of Missouri, we should not be surprised at anything that may turn up.

The Suez Canal opened on the 17th of August and vessels laden with coal passed from the Mediterranean to the Red Sea.

Two men named Johnson and Finley, were arrested on Tuesday night last, in this county, some few miles south-east of Glasgow, on the charge of horse stealing. They were brought to town yesterday, and will undergo their examination to-day before Esquires STANLEY and MOREHEAD.

A Melancholly Accident.
A painful affair occurred near the residence of Mr. Hickman, eight miles north of this place, on the 17th ultimo. Edward Woodard, a youth of about seventeen years of age, suddenly came to his death by the accidental discharge of a gun. Young Woodard was on a hunting excursion at the time of this sad accident, which is supposed to have been occasioned by the young man's shifting the position of the hammer, catching in his clothes, and the weapon of death, which was heavily loaded, discharged its contents into his left breast, killing him instantly. This is a stroke of fatality which falls heavily upon the widowed mother of the deceased boy. [Saline Progress.]

ROBBERY.
We learn that on the night of the 24th ult., three men, mounted upon horses, went to the residence of Mr. M. C. Hays, south-west of Cambridge about eight miles, and robbed Mr. Hays and two sons of about sixty dollars. It is a case of the most glaring and damnable robbery. The robbers, after having satisfied themselves that there was no more money about the premises, fired into the house, wounding Mr. Hays' two sons, and then remounted their horses and scampered off westward. Our informant, a good Unionist and veteran soldier, thinks the robbery was committed by disbanded militiamen, some of whom, we are sorry to say, have become too lazy to work, and are prowling about over the country stealing for a living.—[Saline Progress.]

The Albany (N. Y.) Journal is now printed on paper made from bamboo, by a process which promises the best results. The bamboo is brought from Jamaica, and costs, delivered in the East, from ten to twelve dollars per cord. The paper is firm, white, and with an excellent surface, and the body is equal to the best manufactured from reeds.

A TRIBUTE TO OLD MAIDS.
In a little work entitled "Our Peculiarities," by Viscountess Combermere, is the following fine tribute to old maids:

These single women, whom it is the cant of society to ridicule, may have often postponed their own settlement in life from the highest motives: filial devotion has, perhaps, engrossed them so entirely in early life, that no selfish object diverted them from their holy duties. It was sufficient to satisfy affection and to supersede home; for the devoted, generous child, from the intensity of her love, has felt that the future must ever be blank, when the interest that engrosses the present is removed by death; and this dreary prospect adds another motive to her tenderness.

Unselfish as woman is under all circumstances, she is here more regardless of herself than in any other position. In married life she yields to her husband, who is her support and companion till death; to her children she looks for affection in age; but no consideration of future happiness or present pleasure encourages the patient daughter, as she watches day and night the invalid mother, or the decrepit father. Here is the purest love unsullied by one sensual thought as to its origin or object. No instinct prompts it, no animal impulse strengthens it; the holiest feeling that fills the human heart, it yields only in purity to the will of God."

FINISH THY WORK.

Finish thy work—the time is short;
The sun is in the west;
The night is coming down—till then
Think not of rest.
Yes, finish thy work—then rest;
Till then, rest never;
The rest prepared for thee by God
Is rest for ever.
Finish thy work—then wipe thy brow,
Ungird thee from thy toil;
Take breath, and from each weary limb
Shake off the soil.
Finish thy work—then sit thee down
On some celestial hill,
And of its strength-reviving air
Take thou thy fill.
Finish thy work—then go in peace;
Life's battle fought and won;
Hear from the throne the Master's voice,
"Well done, well done!"
Finish thy work—then take thy harp,
Give praise to God above;
Sing a new song of mighty joy
And endless love.
Give thanks to Him who held thee up
In all thy path below,
Who made thee faithful unto death,
And crowns thee now.
A great deal of liquor is used by temperance men for medicinal purposes.

NOT A CITIZEN, PERSON, NOR RESIDENT.
In Joliet a colored person by the name of Levi Boone refused to pay poll tax on the ground that he was not a citizen, "person," or "resident" in the meaning of the law. He was taken before a J. P., when he made his plea in accordance with the above statement, and had attorneys to argue the case. He relied upon the Dred Scott decision, and the 14th Article of our State Constitution. After mature deliberation the J. P. decided that the plea was good, and that Levi was not required by law to pay a poll tax. So says the Joliet Republican.

MT. PLEASANT COLLEGE.
THE TENTH ANNUAL SESSION OF this institution will open at Huntsville, on the second Monday in September next. All the departments will be supplied with teachers; and no pains will be spared to make the College in discipline and instruction all it should be. For many years, through sunshine and storm, it has maintained an honorable position among the permanent institutions of the country. Faithfully adhering to its mission, it has been sustained without suspension through the war, and now every effort will be put forth to extend its usefulness commensurate with the demands of peace. We have a complete assortment of apparatus, and a fair library. The college building and grounds will receive such repairs and improvements as are needed before the opening of the session.
Our terms will remain as heretofore, viz:
Tuition in College Classes $18 00
" Intermediate Classes 14 50
" Primary Department 7 50
Contingent Fee 1 00
Tuition in Instrumental Music 20 00
(One half payable in advance.)
Good boarding can be obtained in private families at the lowest reasonable rates.
